To Our Mothers

Mothers, we honor you today. Not for what we are, for our own perversity has obscured the ideal you set for us, but for the sacrifice, the loyalty, and comradeship, that you unflinchingly gave us, expecting no reward except Love.

We have failed you in many ways. We have done much to grieve you but if appreciation and an aching sense of unworthiness can at all compensate for your love, we are thankful.

The significance of the flowers and tokens you receive today will mean much. But they will mean little compared to the remembrance of a sleeping child, and a broken toy.

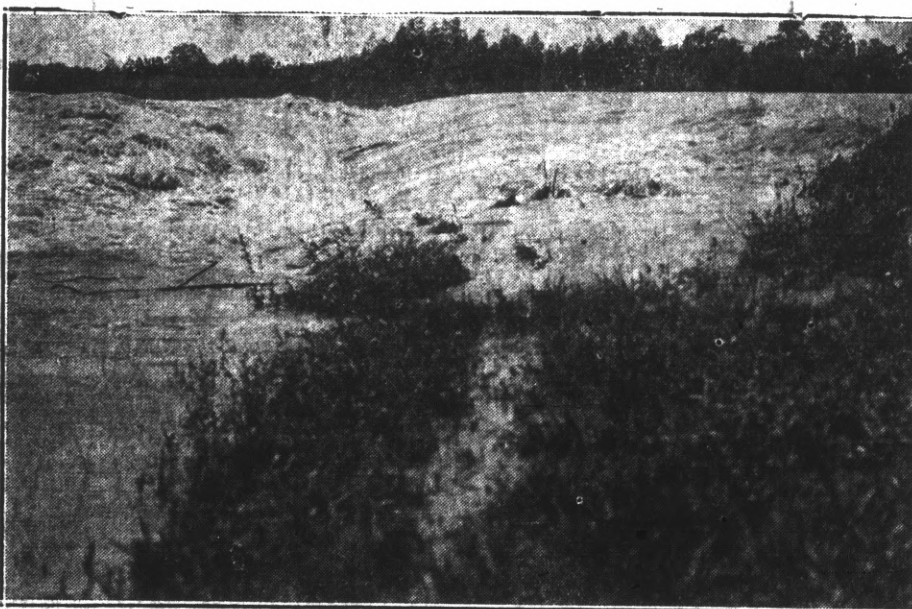

Mothers, God bless you!

QUAKES, STORMS HIT FLOOD AREA

TORRENTIAL RAINS SWEEP DEVASTATED REGION; NEW LEVEE BREAKS ARE FEARED

Mississippi Death Sweep Unabated

FORCE OF FLOOD sweeping over fields between New Orleans and Baton Rouge is vividly shown by this exclusive view of Mississippi taken from airplane by Isadora Newman, author, while on lecture tour in South, just after crevice had been made in levee.

Increased Burden Is Put On Dykes As Waters Rise Rapidly

(By Universal Service)
MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 7.—Earth tremors, small tornadoes and severe electrical storms following the disastrous floods added a freak touch to the situation in the Mississippi valley area yesterday and today.

The tornadoes, lightning and heavy rainfall caused some property damage but no one was known to have been killed. The earthquake, reported severe in some localities, seemed to have been confined to an area of one hundred miles north and west of Memphis. No great damage was reported but inhabitants of several towns were thrown into excitement after vaguely connecting the earthquake with the floods.

The weather bureau, however, saw no connection between the earth shocks and the floods which have devastated wide sections of the valley. Meteorologist F. W. Brist asserted that earthquakes were from an entirely different element of control.

NEW TRANS- ATLANTIC HOP BEGUN

(By Universal Service)

LE BOURGET, France, May 8.—The "White Bird" rose in flight at 5:10 this morning and headed westward toward New York.

From this aviation port of Paris Captain Charles Mungesser and Captain Francis Coll famous aces, of the Great War piloted their Lavasaur plane aloft in their attempt at spanning the Atlantic.

After a day and night of uncertainty and suspense in which weather reports were the determining factor the daring flyers made their start along a field tightly policed by lines of French soldiers.

"I am anxious to make good for the glory of France," was the final message from Mungesser this morning. "Don't worry, we are not going to our death."

Richmond Boys Reach Summit In Sierras

To four Richmond boys goes the honor of climbing to the summit of the Sierra Nevada mountains from the California side near Twin Bridges, according to word received here yesterday.

C. A. Pennington, B. N. Pennington, E. Bates and B. Turner, who left here last Sunday on a week's trip into the Sierras, are reported to have hiked over the stiff 14-mile stretch between Twin Bridges and the summit without the aid of snowshoes, although encountering snow all the way.

ENGIN ILL
Charles W. Ensign, Jr. is now being treated at the Lane Stanford hospital in San Francisco for an ear trouble.

Use Your Ballot Tomorrow

Do your duty tomorrow. Monday, May 9th, is election day. There are three councilmen to be elected. The electoral privilege which is given you is a valuable one. No matter how you vote, go to the polls and cast your ballot.

Take a part in the selection of your city councilmen.

Don't remain at home, and afterwards complain about the result of the election.

A person who does not take interest in civic matters is not a good citizen.

The five candidates in the field are A. L. Paulsen, V. A. Fenner, Rena B. Lauffer, J. N. Hartnett, Marie L. Ogborn.

PAULSEN URGES MONDAY VOTING FIERY CROSS LIGHTS HILLS

With election day just a few days off I feel called upon to say a few words about my own candidacy for the city council. First I want to say that the fine support I have received from all quarters gives me a lot of pleasure and assures me that there is quite general approval of my ambition to serve the people of Richmond as a member of the city council. It is only proper that on the eve of election I should express my thanks to the hundreds who have been giving my candidacy their earnest support.

I do feel, however, that neither I nor my friends should be over-confident as to the results of the election on Monday. Everybody knows that elections have been lost by over-confidence and I wouldn't want that to happen to mine. May I just now urge all those interested in my election to cast their ballots on Monday and see that their friends do the same.

A. L. PAULSEN.

El Cerrito Fire Is Under Probe

El Cerrito police and fire authorities were yesterday investigating possible incendiary burning out of the mysterious burning of a frame cottage on Liberty street, El Cerrito, late Friday night.

The house, which is the property of A. Markus of El Cerrito, had been occupied by H. Anderson and family, who had moved out at 5:30 p. m. Friday, or only 5 hours before the blaze started.

R. J. Flemming, who resides across the street from the house, discovered the fire shortly after 10 p. m., and turned in a fire alarm. The El Cerrito fire department responded and put out the blaze, but not until the house had been almost completely burned on the inside. The loss is about $2500, most of which is covered by insurance.

The fire is believed to have started in a bedroom, where nothing was found that might have caused the blaze, it was reported last night.

FIRESTONE VISITS IN RICHMOND

Harvey Firestone, head of the big tire manufacturing company, was a visitor here yesterday with Anthony Kastelle, owner of the Civic Center Tire and Battery company at Twenty-third street and Nevin avenue. Richmond was included in the itinerary of Firestone in his automobile tour of the country.

The lighting of the fiery cross of the Ku Klux Klan on the hilltops in at least a dozen sections of Contra Costa county shortly after 9 o'clock Friday night provided a topic for a great deal of discussion throughout the county yesterday.

Just what the occasion was, no one seems to know except members of the order themselves, and they can't be found, nor would they tell, if known, but the fiery cross of the Ku Klux Klan was lighted on the hilltops in at least a dozen sections of Contra Costa county shortly after 9 o'clock last night.

Lighting of the cross was simultaneous in Richmond, Martinez, Concord, Bay Point, Pittsburg, Antioch and Brentwood, the cross at Bay Point being the largest and burning for nearly two hours before the flaming automobile tires, hung in the form of a cross, burned out.

East Bay Milk Is Paid Compliment

The quality of milk in the east-bay region was paid a high tribute at the session of the California Conference of Social Work, it was reported yesterday by Dr. R. R. Root, Richmond city veterinarian.

Dr. Arthur L. Fisher of Stanford University hospital, who spoke at the session, said:

Tuberculosis of the bones is a vanishing disease so far as California is concerned and it is practically a thing of the past in the bay region. We get no cases of the Stanford hospital that originate in this district.

"The reasons for the disappearance of this disease is due primarily to the better milk our children now get due to proper inspection and sanitary handling."

200 Children Are Examined At Clinic

Over 200 children planning to enter the primary grades of Richmond schools next August were examined at the clinics conducted during the past week by the Richmond Health Center, it was announced last night by Mrs. Norman L. Purviance, director of the center. This is 300 more than last year, it was stated.

The closing days of the clinics saw 20 children from Harding and Pullman districts and 14 from San Pablo and Giant examined at the clinics.

"I'll Help You, Mamma"

THAT WAS GREETING of 9-year-old Lorraine Snyder (above), when she met her mother in the Long Island City courtroom for the first time since her arrest for murder of husband. Mrs. Snyder wept at daughter's declaration of loyalty.

"Sash Murderess" Relies On Sex To Save Her From Chair

(By Universal Service)
LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., May 7.—Ruth Brown Snyder sat in her tiny cell here today waiting, waiting for the big prison clock to tick off the few hours remaining before a jury finds her guilty or not guilty of the cold-blooded murder of her husband.

In spite of a mountainous pile of damning evidence against her, she is hopeful. To the last she is relying on the thing that has dominated her 33 years, the thing that drove her down the road to murder.

She is relying on her sex. "They will never send a woman to the chair in this state," said Ruth Snyder to a deputy sheriff today.

But she had forgotten—if she ever knew—that since the early part of the last century "this state" has sent exactly six women to their legal death, four of them for killing their husbands. The kindly deputy did not remind her of that.

Not far away sat Henry Judd Gray, tried with Ruth Snyder for the murder, whose ghastly details amazed case-hardened court habitués.

As he sat on his little cot, Gray was more cheerful than his former sweetheart. That was because he was completely devoid of all hope except the tiny fragment that every living creature has to make to live.

"I suppose I'll get it," he remarked, almost casually, to a prison attendant. "I'm not afraid of the chair and I'm glad I told the truth."

Back in Ruth's cell, a smile flashed over the pale face—More pale than ever because she has eaten but indifferently—when the afternoon mail brought a proposal of marriage from a Texas ranger. However foolish he may be, he was sincere in his desire to "make a home" for the blond murderess in case a jury is lenient.

JUST AND JEST!

THESE ICEMEN
(By Universal Service)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 6.—Extolled as "a good, old fashioned darkey" by 35 white women who appeared as defense witnesses, Melvin Green, elderly negro leman, today was acquitted of a charge of assault brought by a housewife in a fashionable residential section of the city.

The aged negro stoutly protested his innocence. Women of the neighborhood flocked to the county court of misdemeanors to tell Judge H. B. Abernathy they considered the defendant a model leman.

N. Y. "SNAKE"

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 6.—Thousands of May strollers and picnickers who are thronging the Durand Eastman park here were menaced today by something more vicious than moonlight and the scent of honeysuckle.

A diamond-backed rattlesnake, which is about as harmless as a stick of dynamite, was loose in the park. The entire squad of park department employees joined in the chase.

Leading the hunt was "Rattlesnake" Pete Gruber, internationally known reptile expert and survivor of several scores of bites from many species of venomous snakes.

FORMER LOCAL MATRON DIES

Mrs. C. W. Paris, former Richmond resident and the mother of J. D. Paris of 444 Eleventh street, passed away late Friday night at her home in Fruitvale. Death came at the close of a ten-day illness.

Mrs. Paris was 75 years of age and a native of Indiana. She had made her home in Richmond for over 10 years, moving to Fruitvale about three years ago.

She is survived by eleven children, most of whom reside in the bay region.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock from Grant Miller's parlors, East Oakland. Rev. G. W. Phillips of the Tenth avenue Baptist church, Oakland, will officiate. The body will be shipped back to Farmington, Indiana, for interment.

ALEXANDERS HOSTS

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Alexander, 425 Bissell avenue have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. L. S. McClellan of Guadalupe, who are leaving Richmond today. Mrs. McClellan is the aunt of the host and she acted as representative from Santa Barbara at the recent state convention of club women held at Stockton. The couple stopped over for a few days' visit on their motor return trip to the southern part of the state.

Returning from a trip to the Hawaiian Islands, Dr. and Mrs. Harold E. Hayes, of Buffalo, New York, have been entertained as the guests of Rev. and Mrs. H. K. Sanborn.

J. H. Beach, formerly of Kansas, has purchased the five room residence of Will C. Dobler on McLaughlin avenue. The A. L. Paulsen realty service handled the deal.

One Half Of Richmond Flood Relief Quota Of $3000 Raised

Richmond reached the halfway mark in its campaign to raise a quota of $3,000 for 325,000 flood-stricken and famine threatened victims of the raging Mississippi river throughout the south when group contributions brought the total to $1,500.

The teachers of the Junior High school assisted most materially in backing the ball to the fifty yard line when they contributed $100. Donations from other sources by group contributions and individual offerings brought the total to within $372 of the halfway mark.

It is expected that Richmond will go over the top with the generosity and open heartedness that has always been characteristic of its civic spirit.

City Clerk And Old Friend Meet After 34 Years Time

After a separation of almost 34 years' duration, A. C. Paris, city clerk of Richmond, and Maj.-Gen. Amos A. Fries, chief of chemical warfare in the United States army, met yesterday at the Palace Hotel, San Francisco. General Fries, who is on inspection tour of the country, was honored as officers' luncheon.

General Fries and Paris graduated together from the Medford, Ore., high school in 1893, as did Mrs. Paris. General Fries then entered West Point, while Paris came to California.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Marriage licenses were granted in Oakland to Edith L. Campbell, 36, of 918 Chanslor avenue, Richmond, and Charles H. Redrick, 37, of Madisonville, Ky., to Ira F. Clift, 27, of Richmond, and Elvira Olsson, 24, of Oakland.

Special Music At 1st Presbyterian

The first numbers of the recently-organized musical department of the First Presbyterian church will be presented at the church services today. S. A. Marshall, well known local baritone, has been named musical director of the church.

Mrs. Ross Calfee will appear today in choir, quartet and solo numbers at the church. Quartet and choir numbers will be given at church in the morning, with Mrs. Calfee, Mrs. W. P. Cooper, J. H. Plate and S. A. Marshall forming the quartet.

A Mother's Day program at the evening service will include a solo by Mrs. Calfee and a number by the choir.

SON BORN TO WASHBAUGHS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Washbaugh, 1913 Chanslor avenue, are the parents of a son, named Robert Burnell, born to them May 4. Both mother and child are reported to be doing nicely.

TO BETTER THE RACE

The supreme court's decision upholding a law prescribing sterilization for hopelessly afflicted mortals is a recognition of the scientific fact that much of the gamut of human ills is based on biological rather than on moral deficiencies. When we come to the point where disregarding emotion, we can help nature produce people of superior quality, as our friends the cattlemen breed up their herds, a great stride will have been taken toward that millenium for which we aspire.

It will never be possible of course, to separate the human sheep and goats completely and specify certain individuals for a minor role in procreation. Strains of weakness running down through generations do not always manifest themselves, and on the other hand, offspring occasionally miss the evil taint of bad ancestors. No generalization is safe, except this: Time added to ever-watchful case will so diminish the insane, the criminal, the unfit that the application of science to health is worth while.

Some human defects are unalterably transmissible to descendants. It is no more shocking to propose the sterilization of unfit subjects among men and women that it is to permit men and women from sheer laziness to limit their progeny. Unfortunately it is the wise and knowing, the well cared for and sheltered who have the smallest families.

A place can and should be found for limiting the invasion of the individual right by the state, but conditions of life are so forced and unnatural that if some drastic method is not taken to reduce degeneracy of all sorts, the world instead of being an increasingly better place to live in will become a paradise for crime and depravity.

The taxes in Great Britain are so heavy that the average Englishman must work one day in each five for the government, according to estimates. When Coolidge and Mellon get out of a job here John Bull ought to hire 'em.

Excavators at Jerusalem have dug up a stone ball shot by a Roman catapult. Who knows? Maybe a thousands years hence some explorer from Mars will dig up a baseball which was knocked out of the park by Babe Ruth.

Occasionally there are persons who still believe in abolishing capital punishment for murderers, especially the murderers.—Pittsburgh Post.

Now a Russian princess is coming over for the purpose of studying Americans. That's all right, we're getting used to it.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instructions. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this newspaper. Name your city on your return envelope. Don't say "city."

LADIES CLASSIFIED

For our immediate purpose all ladies may be divided into three classes, namely, and in the order of their importance, P. P. ladies, F. F. ladies, and S. S. ladies. P. P. ladies hope not to exceed 10 per cent excess baggage. Pleasant plump, in other words, and that's the way I like 'em. I speak as a health authority primarily, tho my eye for pulchritude is not had either. P. P. ladies are generally happy and smiling; for health is happiness. But, also, sometimes they take these comic fashion cartoons too seriously and develop an obsession that they are fat. Even with this obsession gnawing away at her happiness, and incidentally her good looks, a proper class if they will. For that fat feeling all she needs is the second Brady symphony.—symphony, not sympathy—which I am pleased to send to any P. P. lady with my compliments and best wishes, provided she asks me like a lady for it and accompanies her request with a stamped envelope bearing her address.

For F. F. ladies I have large chunks of sympathy, genuine sympathy and no sarcasm. Never knowingly have I sarcasticized at the expense of a F. F. lady. I feel too sorry for her even to attempt a mild joke about anything so ludicrous as adipose. Any lady who is frankly fat or frightfully fat has all the sympathy I can spare and is welcome to it. My candid opinion is that this sympathy racket is about the worst thing a doctor or a health expert can try on his patients or clients. I sincerely believe that a reasonable amount of judiciously applied sarcasm does a lot of good, but the practice of slobbering sympathy is depraving. So I prefer to dole out sarcasm or keep silent. Sometimes I do both, that is, I lay on the sarcasm a bit heavily and then for a number of years keep silent. Now for the F. F. lady I offer not only sympathy but the very best health advice I can give. I am happy to tell any frankly or frightfully fat lady just how she should proceed to reduce without injury and usually with distinct benefit to her general health. For instance, the F. F. lady frequently, or at least more frequently than ladies should, presents complications such as impaired kidneys, incompetent heart muscles, high blood pressure, not flaccid, a number of troubles which she scarcely associates with her obesity. The regimen I offer her usually best fits these complicating troubles as it reduces weight. Now, then, all the F. F. lady has to do in order to get my advice is already has my sympathy and I refuse to repeat on this part of the order—is write a short letter to me, the shorter the better, telling me with-out apology or fatuous reminiscences of the figure her husband married, her name, age height and weight, mention her desire to reduce, and inclose a stamped envelope bearing her address. Then she may sit back and tell her friends to watch her smoke from now on.

Finally come the poor, straggling S. S. ladies, for whom I certainly can't feel sorry, that is, not in the cordial way I do for the F. F. ladies. A severely skinnv lady may have a true heart, a warm heart under her scrawny breast, and all that sort of thing, but nevertheless it is risky to chuck her under the chin even figuratively unless you have supernumerary fingers. Still and all, this is a strange world, and even the S. S. lady sometimes does a man in a tight corner. In that case she naturally years to acquire enough weight to knock the poor boob cold. I am delighted to help her achieve this if she will ask for my help.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

HERE'S A CAUTIOUS ONE

I am interested in your treatment for—, but before I can permit you to send it I wish to ask you to let me know if it is absolutely free and without obligation of any kind on my part. (H. H. S.)

Answer—All right, I'll let you know if it is. Haven't you confused me with Old Doctor Kidd or somebody?

Oh, Look at the Pretty Package when I sent my wheat to the mill last fall I wanted to have the bran left in one bushel, but my wife wouldn't have it so. Therefore I am reduced to robbing the cow bin in order to get my daily bran. Why not try to convert the women to the use of natural foods, for the benefit of the suffering men folks? Why should I pay the miller to remove the bran from my wheat, then pay the health food manufacturer for a pretty package of bran? Why should we pay the salt factory for removing the salt, and then pay the salt maker for putting it back into the salt? (C. E. C.)

Answer—Well, I give it up. I suspect it is because some folk like the pretty package. Before we can solve that mystery I'd like to know why so many people—maybe we'd better not say anything more about toothpaste, it does seem queer, though, that some people who think plain soap objectionable for washing the teeth use it freely when it comes in a pretty package, prettily flavored and with pretty gimeracks to amuse the children.

Another Guy Joins Our Class. The doctors have told my husband he has nerve deafness in the left ear. He seems to have no hearing whatever in it, and he also has a bad ringing in his ears. Is there any help that you can suggest? (Mrs. W. F.)

Answer—No, I can only bid your husband welcome to our circle. It is really a little annoying how many otherwise amiable people encounter who has and who have tin ears—and the annoying part of it is that nearly always it is the left ear, and they are so selfish and inconsiderate about keeping on one's left. As a rule, when the auditory nerve ceases to function—the ringing in the ear ceases too.

DOPING THE BABY

Can you tell me whether paregoric is harmful to babies? Does it dope them? Friends say it is not harmful. (Mrs. R. A. L.)

Answer—Paregoric is a camphorated tincture of opium. To feed an infant opium in any quantity is ruinous. It is a scandal that our government permits the indiscriminate sale of this particular preparation of opium.

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D.
The Parent Counsellor

Dr. Dean will answer all signed letters pertaining to parents' problems with their boys and girls. Writers' names are never printed. Only questions of general interest answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamp, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Address Arthur Dean, in care of this paper.

THE IDEAL BOY

Outside of mother's heart is there any such animal? I am not speaking to lay of nice little boys sitting pretty in bay carriages, or those "little men of tomorrow" that the poets sing about when they idealize youngsters between the skirt and short trousers age.

Rather, we are thinking of what "sweet young things" consider as the ideal man. Why should I, a sober, slightly gray-headed ex-college professor concern myself with this momentous question? Now Why? If you must know it is because back in the head of every girl, however demure she may appear, there is lurking a conception of Prince Charming. Any anything this column can do to help her and her dream life to discover the qualities of the Dread Man is well worth while. After you have underscored, clipped and forwarded to me a two-cent engraving of the Father of Our Country, stuck on an envelope addressed to yourself, it will fall to my lot to assort the answers and from them attempt to build up the ideal man. I cannot do it without your help though. You fill in the blank spaces with your likes and cross out the words descriptive of your diabolical thinking (carefully in pencil or ink, please) and I'll do the rest and, of course, will let you know. (If you S. A. S. E.)

My ideal man is—years old, light, dark brown, slicked and oily, curly hair. Brown, blue, gray, reflective, keen, dancing eyes under shaggy, even pencilled eyebrows. A square, slanting, thoughtful, executive, poetic forehead, and feet requiring number—shoes.

HE IS THE MAN FOR YOU. He must stand—ft., and—inches high and weigh—pounds. His hands must be broad, short, long, powerful, beautiful, and the fingers are to be slender, chubby, tapering.

At all times he must be an unmitigated falsifying, truthful, and courteous gentleman, possess an ability to write lovely love letters, effective business correspondence, poetry, and always say the wrong thing at the right wrong time. I want him to be a professional, business or farming expert in a line of work which brings him a lot of money, fine reputation, respect of the community, rewards of social service. He must have ranked high, failed, advanced in school in college. I want him to dress extravagantly, neatly, spend more, less than he earns and save nothing, something out of his pay envelope. I want him to be a Christian in good standing, an unbeliever, a doubting Thomas. I should like him to be—years of age when I, at the age of customers, if I have left out any specifications. When you receive my answer it will be headed "The Ideal Man as Picked by Arthur Dean's Readers." And then the brutes will sit up and take notice.

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER. Likely a Mistake. My mother wants me to take a business course but by nature I am an out door sort of boy and the sound of a typewriter would make me sick. Furthermore she doesn't want me to leave home. I love out-of-doors and would love to work with nature.

Youth of Twenty. Answer—State College of Forestry for a full course or take a special course as forest ranger, or course in horticulture.

As I have said many times, parents cannot dictate the vocational careers of their children.

My child is in love with all. Never dream of starting anything without first asking permission. If there was a heaven my child would be there. My child is that. Why do people have so much trouble with their children?

Devoted Mother. ANSWER—Because such children have curiosity, initiative, minds of their own, inventiveness, assertiveness and all the qualities which when rightly used make for successful and happy existence.

LAW ON DAD'S SIDE

Father insists that I can't drive the car and I don't want to use it to go to school or go out nights. When we go for a ride I have to sit by papa and suck my thumb. Boy friends say, "Little Willie can't drive the car." I have to reply, "Dad won't let me." How can I change my dad's mind?

Disappointed Fifteen. ANSWER—If the law of your state prevents a boy of fifteen from driving a car I will do nothing to help change your dad's mind.

Take your thumb out of your mouth, look happy, and wait until you are of legal age. I find youngsters all over America are teasing "Papa" not merely to drive the family car but to have a car of their very own. Most assuredly when the law prevents it that's reason enough for dad's refusal.

Marriage Game

As Played to a Decision Every Day By Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hatten

MORE ON JEALOUSY

LIS PLAY: You women are always complaining against a jealous husband's suspicions, yet I notice that the woman whose husband is chronically jealous is always most sure of his love. Goodness knows, I am not jealous and I trust you, no matter what you want to do. At the same time I think it is quite natural that a man should feel he has a right to judge what is right and proper and correct and he also has a right to offer criticism of his wife's behavior if it seems necessary.

Just because a man wants to know what his wife is up to is no sign he is abnormally jealous.

HER COUNTER PLAY: O. nonsense. All men are jealous. And nothing is so irksome to a woman as to have a husband who wants to know where she was at 2:40 today when he called up from the office and nobody was at home to answer the telephone. Probably the wife was down stairs washing out his pet $1200 silk shirt but most husbands leap to the conclusion that she must be on some excursion that may bear investigation. No, honey, you are wrong in believing that a woman likes to have a jealous husband about the place. It's an awful worry even if it is accepted as a sign of his devotion and affection.

THE REFEREE: And she's dead right, too, about that.

What Every Girl Should Know

by GISA PRUCHONE

Copyright, 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. "WHAT EVERY GIRL SHOULD KNOW," with Patay Ruth Miller, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Mary "Etain" Sullivan—stender, beautiful, red-headed—is a tennis champion. A pretentious snooty girl is Mary, despite her physical prowess. Her mother died leaving for a living, her spirit lives on in Mary. Wally Mason, a young reporter, loves Mary but she disbelieves in love. Mary keeps house for her brothers, David and Bobby. David, the family support, hopes Mary will get safely married. David is sentenced to prison for an auto fatality. The Charity Department takes Bobby. Wally proposes. Mary goes to New York, but cannot find work.

Then Mary suddenly found a job. It was that same day that Mary wrote her first letter to Robert, and to lighten the small heart, dwell upon the munificence that would be theirs when she was installed as cloak-room girl at the "White Ape," the night-club that was New York's demimour.

It was a very brave little letter. It spoke of the thrill and glory that was New York, and of the boundless opportunities that seemed to be waiting for her in the future, and in the acceptance of the present. It finished with love, and an urgent request for instant response. That same night Mary wrote to David, making no mention of the job but speaking brightly of the work she hoped to find as tennis instructor in one of the city's largest stores. That would cheer David immensely. And a letter to Wally, that mentioned not very much at all, and was a very vague web, leaving him to fill in the space between sentences. When that was done she prepared the one dress suitable for her job on the morrow. It was a very vague job. The most she understood was that

It was to bring her a definite sum weekly, which in itself would be sufficient for both herself and Robert, in addition to tips.

The tall thin man with the ridges of marcelled hair who interviewed Mary had been very glowing in mention of the "Ups." It seemed that if she were wise she might be able to make as much as five and seven dollars a night, and if she were very wise, she might make more. He was very vague as to just what constituted being "wise," and Mary was even more so. He had seemed quite taken with her appearance, very much pleased to find that it was the job of cloak-room girl that she wished, and not a job in the chorus. Not that she couldn't have a job in the chorus if she wished. Did she wish? No, Mary did not wish. Well, he for one was glad of that. Chorus girls were common, but it was rarely that a good looking girl like Mary came along for the job of checking the patrons' wraps. Did she know she was a mighty cute little looker? He put out his hand and laid it on her sleek head, and she withdrew a step involuntarily. The edges of his nails were rimmed with black, and the forefinger of one hand was missing.

"Understand that your work begins tomorrow night!" "Yes." She was rather thrilled at the mere idea of such close association with a night club. THE WHITE APE at that, one of the best known of the lot. When the marcelled young man had left, walking lightly on thin patent leather shoes that caught the yellow light of the electric globes overhead, she looked around with eagerness. Over in the corner two girls in rompers, with enormous bows in their smartly chingled hair, were practising steps with arms about each other's waists. When the marcelled young man appeared they greeted him with shouts of "Hi Benny, come on!" and made room for him between them. He encircled them both, and the three slid easily into their dance while the shirt-sleeved young man at the piano tore through the music. It echoed hollowly in the emptiness of the great barn-like place, that looked strangely tawdry in the mingled daylight and the pools of yellow shed from the bulbs overhead. The wooden tables were bare of any covering. Later Mary was to see them meticulously draped in the snowy folds of white lace, with the little pink lamps glowing gently above. But even now, in its undress, the place carried a fascination for her. Her breast rose with the thrill of it. It was better than instructress in the sporting goods department of a department store. That was routine. Here was life!

She went on duty at nine o'clock. "Not because there's anything doing, then, see," said Bennie, "but because some of the hayseeds think this is a circus and you gotta come early to get the best seats. Oh, you'll learn a lot, kid!" Mary wondered. Wondered if she would learn a lot, and the rapidity of her heart beats at the proximity of Benny warned her that in all probability she would. Bennie, she now discovered, was part owner and manager of the place, and also did an occasional specialty "when they were short of artists." She was to discover that even the profession was termed an "artist," whether their specialty was artistic or not didn't matter. They were artists, and Mary was only impressed. The artist was sauntering in, slim girls with reddened mouths, mouths that spoke of wisdom, and eyes that were steeped in it. One, a vivid little dark creature, with great brown eyes that sparkled with the vivacity of explosives, strolled towards Mary, settled behind her cage. As she came, she emitted a smile that was more a grin.

"Hello!" Then she announced, "You're new."

"I am," Mary smiled somewhat shyly to return. This was all so new, and these were her first words to a young one of her own sex since coming to the city.

"Think you're going to like it?" the other asked, leaning over the cage. What a delightful little face the child had, Mary thought.

"I think I will."

"You probably will. You're the type. And they'll probably like you." This was spoken with a wisdom that came oddly from the little creature. She swung her flat beaded bag, and turned away. After taking a few slow steps, she turned back.

"What's your name?" Mary was amused. She told the child her name.

"Mine is Barbara Clement." She hesitated, then said, "You can call me Babs if you'd like." But it was evidently not what she wanted to say to Mary.

"Thank you. I should like to. And may I say that it suits you perfectly? You're a very nice young thing."

"Not as young as I look," said the other succinctly. Then, "Listen, Mary. Don't let anybody around here tell you too many lies."

"After which she swung off with a careless swagger of her very seductive young person, the seductiveness an attribute of which she was very aware."

"Now what," thought Mary, "can she have meant by that? Is it possible that she refers to the emaciated, pink-cheeked young paper-thin oxfores, known as Bennie? And if she means Bennie, why does she mean Bennie? And what can she possibly mean to me?" She concluded with the thought that it was all very puzzling, and not particularly interesting in what it referred to Bennie. Had it been any one but him? But what did it matter?

At a few minutes before ten Mary received her first tip, and didn't know whether to laugh or cry. It was so ridiculous, being given a half dollar for nothing more than a smile, and it smiled were to bring in such high tariffs, how long would it be before she could go for young Robert? Life was suddenly very good. It may have been the silver coin that she held lightly in her hand, it may have been the music that was humming up with the arrival of the guard of guests. It may have been the soft glow of the lights that gleamed on spotless napery and sent forth an air of well-being, of comfort and luxury, luxury in which it was pleasant to bathe despite its synthetic glow. It may have been all of these, and it may have been none of them. But life was good—why bother delving into the reason for its end and den worth?

SIR FRANCIS DRAKE

By Dr. Elliot Shoring, The Noted Historian

THE CIMARONS—MEN-OF-THE-HILLS—OR, AS THE ENGLISH SAILORS CALLED THEM, MAROONS—WERE A WARLIKE RACE OF MIXED NEGRO AND INDIAN BLOOD. THEY WERE THE DESCENDANTS OF AN ORIGINAL BAND OF NEGRO SLAVES WHO HAD MARRIED NATIVE INDIAN WOMEN AND ESTABLISHED THEMSELVES IN THE HILLS AND FORESTS ALONG THE ROAD TO PANAMA. THEY HAD COME TO BE A BOLD AND POWERFUL RACE, ABLE AND CLEVER WARRIORS. LATER DRAKE MADE EXCELLENT USE OF THESE MEN. HE WAS A MAN OF ACTION AND COUNTED ON THE WEAKNESS OF NOMBRE DE DIOS FOR THE SUCCESS OF HIS RAID AND DETERMINED TO REACH THE GOAL, AHEAD OF THE PANAMA SOLDIERS. FOR THE ATTACK ON THE TOWN DRAKE TOOK SEVENTY THREE PICKED MEN, HEAVILY ARMED WITH PISTOLS, MUSKETS, BOWS AND ARROWS.

NOMBRE DE DIOS WAS, AS WE HAVE SAID, THE POINT WHERE THE SPANISH STOKED THEIR RICHES FOR ANNUAL TRANSPORTATION TO SPAIN. IT WAS A MISERABLE SETTLEMENT, BUILT CLOSE BY THE SEA. BY NIGHT DRAKE'S PARTY ROWED IN SMALL BOATS TO THE MOUTH OF THE HARBOR, WAITING ONLY FOR DAYLIGHT TO BEGIN THE ASSAULT.

Dites, Donc, Club Mendelssohn to Have Scholarship Tryouts

Etes-vous une artiste? Eh, bien, allez! Mendelssohn club will have tryouts for scholarships next Thursday afternoon, May 12, at 2:30 o'clock in the Point Masonic hall in Washington avenue. A noted professor from San Francisco, Pierre Bouliet will act as severe judge of the aspirants who will be required to have reached the third grade in music, and who must be between the ages of 12 and 18 years. Many young hopeful musicians are expecting to compete for the scholarship that is so desirable and which takes such ability to win. All have been cordially invited to attend the musical.

MISSOURI CLUB TO MEET WITH MRS. BUTLER

The next meeting of the Missouri club will be held at the home of Mrs. Ethel Butler, 600 Kipling avenue.

Members of the Missouri Club spent an enjoyable afternoon Friday as guests of Mrs. W. F. Woods at 325 Bissell avenue. An eleventh member, a new one, was accepted. She is Mrs. W. R. Moore. A donation was contributed to the Mississippi flood sufferers by the ladies. They are working industriously on two new plays to be given in the near future. Rehearsal stopped while delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

DRUIDS HOLD INITIATION CEREMONY

United Ancient Order of Druids, Point Richmond Circle, No. 123, held an initiation and Mrs. Jess Parodi of Oakland conducted the impressive installation. She also spoke eloquently and inspiringly on the subject of the order and urged that the members support Miss Mary Sacco of Oakland for queen of the Druid's pageant. No definite date is known but the pageant will be held the latter part of this month. Gifts were presented to the arch Druidess and the past Druidess and a banquet was given Mrs. Parodi.

Those installed were Arch Druidess, Frances Camerle; first bard, Mary Santini; second bard, Josephine Bonaccorso; chaplain, Margaret Elchar; conductor, Louisa Novarini; organist, Esther Peric; secretary, Felicia Novarini; treasurer, Marie Ceredoni; inside guardian, Kate Zanze; and outside guardian, Angelo Camerle; trustees, Elizabeth Perkins and Jennie Fambirini; auditors, Charles Ceredoni, Margaret Allyn and Gust Allyn.

Mrs. Parodi delivered an interesting and inspiring talk on the order after the installations. She also urged that they support arch Druidess and the past Druidess, and flowers were given to Mrs. Parodi. A delightful banquet was then served under the direction of the hostess.

Miss Adele Campbell Becomes Bride Of Edwin Tilden

An elaborate reception followed the marriage ceremony of Miss Mary Adele Campbell and Edwin M. Tilden, Jr., when they were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Harold I. Collings of Richmond, in Oakland, yesterday. The simple and beautiful wedding was attended only by relatives and close friends of the young couple.

The bride made a bewitching picture in a mauve and silver afternoon gown of elaborate design and an imported hat of graceful and flattering lines. The shower bouquet was composed of orchids, lilies of the valley and tiny bride's roses. Miss Alice Maloney, a close friend of Mrs. Tilden, was the solo attendant for the bride. She was charming in a gown of similar design made in pink and wearing a hat that carried out the color scheme. She carried pink and yellow roses. Arch Campbell, brother of the youthful bride acted as best man.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Campbell, 1015 Arlington avenue, Oakland. An elaborate breakfast was served to hosts of the friends of the newlyweds.

Mrs. Tilden, Jr., has been the honoree at many elaborate affairs lately, both in Richmond and in Oakland. She is remembered as an employee of Attorneys Pierce and her committee.

NYSTROM P. T. A. INSTALLATION TO BE JUNE 2

The Nystrom Parent-Teachers' association will hold its installation ceremony on June 2. This is scheduled as the last meeting to be held this term.

At the recent election this group held in the school an interesting and full report was given on the election of officers of the Sixteenth district at Claremont on April 25, by Mrs. Charles Knecht. Mrs. Jeannette Hadsell was elected president to succeed Mrs. Herbert Hunn. Mrs. Martin Hague will be first vice-president and Mrs. Paul Zimmerman, second vice president. Mrs. Avery Heyman was re-elected secretary and Mrs. Charles H. Ensign was re-elected treasurer. Mrs. J. Bubanks will be the financial secretary.

BLOOMINGTON, Southern California Gas Company extending gas mains in this town.

& Carlson of Richmond. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Tilden, of Mira Vista, and has been associated with his father in the lumber business for the past few years.

The bride and groom sped happily away on a motoring trip to Canada. The trip will be taken leisurely with stops here and there on the way to Lake Louise in Canada.

They will make their home in Mira Vista upon their return from the beauties of the north and will open their luxurious new home to their many friends.

VIVID DRAMA OF CONTRAST AT RICHMOND

Citizens of Richmond have never before been granted the opportunity of seeing a more vivid, gripping drama of contrasts than "Lorraine of the Lions," Universal-Jewell production starring Norman Kerry, now showing at the Richmond theatre.

Tearing down the rapid current of the narrative the spectator is time and again caught in heart-stopping whirlpools of suspense, sitting fast in his seat as the drama unfolds.

The story concerns the daughter of a circus owner. The ship is wrecked and all hands perish save little Lorraine and many of the circus animals. Twelve years are passed in the jungle of a South Sea island, where Lorraine, a giant gorilla, acts as bodyguard to the girl, saving her from savages once and from an alligator in her last perilous journey.

Back in civilization the girl's grandfather still believes the girl is alive. A young Englishman, who has studied the philosophy, sees in his crystal and they set out to find the girl. The object of a cousin, who had hoped to inherit the old man's fortune, it need not be said that the picture is crowded with thrills.

The cast supporting Norman Kerry, with Patsy Ruth Miller, includes Fred Humes, Joseph J. Dowling, Philo McCullough, Harry Todd, Doreen Turner and Jack Goodrich. The story was written by Isadore Bernstein and was directed by Edward Sedgwick.

Other film features include "Baby Be Good," a "Big Boy" comedy, and a Felix the Cat cartoon comedy.

'FASHIONS FOR WOMEN' IS NOW THE CALIFORNIA AT CALIFORNIA

Patrons of the California Theatre today can look forward to a bright and entertaining program of varieties with the picture section of the double bill headed by "Fashions For Women," featuring Esther Ralston. There are two outstanding features of the vaudeville program one a well known offering from Europe, Harry Claff and Kitty Wager, and the other a brilliant sing act of big time calibre Flanders and Butler.

In "The White Knight" Harry Claff is making his initial American tour having offered his travesty with unqualified success in the biggest theatres of Europe and the Continent. Resplendent costume, a touch of humor, a song and some snappy dances by Kitty Wager constitute the make up of the presentation.

"A Vaudeville Concert" is the billing of Flanders and Butler. These products of the Musical Comedy Field are big timers with some specially written as well as popular hits in the repertoire. Genevieve Butler is a lyric soprano and Leo Flanders a nifty pianist.

Songs, music and comedy introduce The Dawn-Day Trio running the gamut from grand opera to the latest melodies from tin pan alley. Ensembles featuring Swiss bells and some intricate saxophone selections are their specialty.

Allen and Susie in "Come On Susie," and Russell and Vivian in southern steps and comedy complete the program.

Falcon-Knight Sales Forseen

A large sale of Peerless and Falcon-Knight cars is anticipated by Harry Semar, dealer in Richmond for the popular cars, who reports himself as well pleased with the reception accorded the Harry Semar company by the people of this city.

Semar announced yesterday that new models in both makes of cars, including the line on display in the salesrooms at 255 Sixteenth street, will be on hand by May 15. Both open and closed models will be included.

A delightful program has been arranged for Monday when the gentlemen of the Yeomen home-stand will have an open meeting. All Yeomen and their friends are invited to enjoy the dance that will follow the meeting.

MRS. NIVOLA AWARDED INTERLOCUTORY DECREE

An interlocutory decree of divorce was yesterday granted Mrs. Madeline Nivola, of Richmond, in Superior Judge H. V. Alvarado's court, from Amariga Nivola, on charges of cruelty. The plaintiff was represented by Attorney C. A. Odell.

WESTERN AUTO REDUCTION ON BATTERY TOLD

A new, reduced price schedule on Wizard storage batteries was announced this week by the Western Auto Supply Company.

The Wizard has been sold by the Western Auto for the past five years, during which time they have supplied thousands of western car owners with what they consider to be one of the best buys in the battery line.

There are two reasons for their low prices, according to Local Manager R. J. Kelley. As they are manufactured in the west, the freight costs are eliminated and being sold direct from manufacturer to consumer, it eliminates the dealers profit.

"The Western Auto Supply Company has a 'West Wide' service," says Kelley. "Regardless of where the customer buys his Wizard battery, if through some circumstances, trouble should develop, that trouble would be righted without quibbling or loss of time at any one of the 150 Western Auto stores."

"We have instructions to repair or replace any Wizard battery free of charge, that develops trouble due to any defects in workmanship or materials within the guarantee period. "All Wizard batteries are encased in the new rubber containers that were adopted by 'Western Auto' over two years ago. These one piece cases are said to aid life to the battery and make it unusually powerful and lasting."

SALVATION ARMY HOLDS FOOD SALE

A successful food sale was held by the Salvation Army yesterday at the Quality Market at Eleventh street and Macdonald avenue. The many and varied articles had been made by the ladies of the Salvation Army Home league and they found a ready market among the people of Richmond. Mrs. Rice of Richmond had charge of the bazaar.

800 Automobile Clubs Provide Motorist Road Information

(By Universal Service)

DETROIT, Mich., May 7.—The business of providing automobile tourists with accurate road information is a large industry in itself. Conservative figures place the cost of furnishing material on road conditions to tourists at between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 annually.

There are more than eight hundred automobile clubs in the United States that are daily directing the automobile driver on the right roads; there are hundreds of chambers of commerce that maintain tourist departments; hundreds of hotels with large touring establishments and the American Automobile Association which is sending out general conditions to member clubs.

The Detroit Automobile Club, while it is said to be the largest in the country with its membership in excess of 60,000 is spending $80,000 on its touring department this year.

Should the 800 clubs of the country only average an expenditure of half that sum there is $2,000,000 alone being expended by these organizations alone.

Then there are such industries as the Standard Oil Company, which this year has an appropriation of $500,000 for road maps to help the tourist along the way.

The change in highway numbers all over the United States to conform to the new United States interstate route markings is adding a considerable expense to tourist guiding this year.

The private map makers must redraw all of their maps as well as the A. A. A. maps and many thousands logs were made obsolete by the new markings put up in this state this week.

Michigan has been somewhat slow in conforming to the new markings. This was due to the huge road building projects which started several years ago, are just being completed. This week temporary cardboard markers covered all old sign markings. Such states as Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and many of the eastern states have already put their permanent markers in place but with combined state and United States road numbers on them.

The standards developed at a joint meeting of the highway commissioners of all states and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads call for use of federal yellow painted warning signs as well. Many states have found it necessary to carry on huge amounts of work to repaint these signs.

The A. A. A. now has its central clearing house, for all automobile clubs in effective operation. The first complete detour map has been sent out from Washington. This covers the southwestern section. As rapidly as possible these will be sent to all members and other touring information centers. Corrected sectional maps will then be sent out from two weeks to one month apart.

The A. A. A. in cooperation with the society of automobile engineers is also aiding such enterprises upon a national basis. It remains to be shown, however, whether the public will be much influenced in its purchase of cars by authentic trial records furnished by any substantial source. Some companies believe that good sales influence may be created by properly advertising the result of such competitions.

Among the companies which competed this Saturday at the Atlantic City speedway were Duesenberg, Stutz, Hudson-Essex, Chrysler, Paige and the Whippet built by the Willys-Overland company. In nearly every instance entries were made by the dealers in the territory.

The stock car speed, acceleration and economy tests should be welcomed back as a timely opportunity to answer claimed statements and the diversified agricultural, mining and lumbering sections of the Pacific Coast country indicate a well developed strengthening of the position of Willys-Overland in the general buying market.

The same statement which carried these figures shows that the increases are about equally divided among the four price classes into which Willys-Overland products are grouped.

RICHMOND HIGH NINE DEFEATED BY SAN RAFAEL

The Richmond high school ball team went down to a 5 to 4 defeat in their last game of the season yesterday afternoon at the hands of the strong San Rafael Military Academy nine. The game was staged on the San Rafael diamond and was closely contested from start to finish. Swenson, Richmond catcher, hit a home run with two men on base. The Richmond lineup:

C. Pinto, 2b; Glum, 3b; Gordon, ss; J. Pinto, cf; C. Baldwin, rf; J. Baldwin, lb; Mallanni, if; Swenson, c; Medo, p.

Approximately one-half of the $3000 campaign now in program to carry on Boy Scout work has been raised, Claude Clark, chairman of the local committee, reported yesterday. The campaign will be continued at least one week longer in order that full cooperation may be given this worthy cause, it was said.

A strong appeal for aid was issued from campaign headquarters, at 700 Macdonald avenue. Clark declared that the betterment of boys was rarely given the amount of attention it merited.

"We are not giving the boys a 50-50 break," he declared. "We dress them up, let them go to shows, send them to church on Sunday and to school on week days, but do we take the boy into our confidence? Is he our pal? Is he getting a square deal?"

"The Boy Scouts of America is a non-sectarian body, composed of boys from 12 to 16 years of age. They are being taught by scout masters selected from among the boys themselves as they develop. The boys are taught loyalty to the flag and the country and many are taken from the environment of the gangsters and instructed in group loyalty. In short they are developed into good citizens."

"This city has upwards of 30,000 people with prospects of 20,000 more within 10 years. One dollar donated now will help develop the citizens who will make the city in years to come. A Boy Scout is always prepared morally and financially."

"We need the help of the community. In the work and ask that the people remember the campaign slogan, 'One Dollar May Make a Better Citizen.'"

"Sash Murderess" Relies On Sex To Save Her From Chair

(Continued on Page 6), Ruth smiled at that. If the two defendants were physically at ease, no matter what their mental conditions, and were more or less content to rest over the week-end before the close of the trial not so the jury.

The twelve good men and true, most of them youngish and with families, were plainly disgruntled over incarceration when all outdoors invited them to go a Maying.

The lawyers spent the day in deep study—Newcombe, the prosecutor, William J. Millard of Gray's defense, and Dana Wallace, one of Ruth Snyder's two lawyers.

Millard and Wallace are frantically trying to get together enough "mitigating circumstances" and enough emotional appeal to offset what is considered probably the most conclusive evidence ever presented against an accused pair.

They are put to it to decide what line of appeal, what arguments are most likely to sway a jury which day after day has heard over and over from the defendants' own lips how Albert Snyder, the home-loving, home-providing art editor, was bludgeoned to death, strangled, and chloroformed by his unfaithful wife and her lover.

Without a doubt, Wallace and Miller, particularly Wallace, will bring at the tricks of their many years, court practice into play and their addresses are bound to be wrapped elaborately in tear-inducing oratory.

Newcombe expects to have an easy time. The defendants have acted as each other's executioners. Ruth Snyder laying the entire blame on Gray and Gray assuming only a part of the guilt.

MORE THAN 30 DOCTORS—RHEUMATISM QUICKLY RELIEVED

Oakland, Cal., April 16, 1926. During the past eight months I suffered from rheumatism in my hands and legs. Although I tried various remedies and doctors, I obtained no results.

I had also suffered from colitis and kidney troubles for eighteen years and had been treated by more than thirty doctors in Seattle and Oakland. Most of the medicine that they gave me had a bad effect on these organs, and I did not improve in any way.

At last, however, I found most wonderful relief in the FONG WANG HERB TREATMENT. I came to Fong Wang to take the tea for rheumatism but not only has the rheumatism gone, but my kidneys and intestines are in fine condition and I am free at last from pain.

At the 11 o'clock service, the music by the choir and the sermon by the pastor will emphasize the place of mother. May 8th is Mother's Day. The subject of the sermon will be, "The Instruction of a Mother." We have here a lesson from Mary the Mother of Jesus. This ideal mother and perfect one should command our highest respect and reverence. The place and opportunity of mother to instruct is supreme. It is fitting to honor and exalt her position. It means much to the home, the church and the state. This Mother commands submissive obedience to our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. This instruction recognizes the highest ideal in heaven and on earth.

POINT RICHMOND BAPTIST CHURCH

"WHY MOTHER LOVES ME" will be the theme for the concluding sermon of a series of Sunday morning services at the Point Baptist church. There will be special Mother's Day music by Mrs. Daily Jenkins and Miss Lois Wood and by a children's choir. Mr. Harris Erickson—the pastor, reports an increasing interest in the local church on the part of residents of the point district.

The Sunday school meets at 10:00 o'clock for the regular period of worship and study.

On Monday evening, May 9th, at 7:30 o'clock the teachers of the school will hold their monthly meeting.

At 7:45 Wednesday evening the church meets for its midweek worship, Bible study and prayer.

Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Worship Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Evangelistic services on Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 7:30 p. m.

The church is open every morning between 10 and 11 to whom ever will for prayer. We contend for the faith once delivered unto yesterday, today and forever.

H. E. Wernicke, pastor.

ST. JOHN'S CATHOLIC CHURCH

Masses will be said every Sunday at St. John's church at Steeple Junction at 8:00 a. m. and 10 a. m. Between the two masses Sunday school will be held.

The Sisters of the Holy Family will conduct Catechism classes every Saturday morning at 9:30 for the children of the parish and a large attendance is expected.

CHURCH OF OUR LADY OF MERCY

West Richmond avenue. Rev. William Cleary, pastor.

First mass, 7:00 o'clock. Second mass, 9:30 o'clock. Sunday school, conducted by the Presentation sisters, immediately after the 9:30 o'clock mass.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Tenth and Nevins avenue. Rev. Weldon M. Wilson, pastor.

"Mother's Apron Strings" will be the subject of pastor Weldon M. Wilson's sermon at 11 o'clock.

In introducing this subject the pastor will tell what he thinks of the modern mother. There will be a baptismal service at the close of the morning preaching hour. At the evening service at 7:30 a special Mother's Day program will be given in which a number of tableau scenes including "The Patriotic Mother," "The Old Fashioned Mother," "The Praying Mother" and "The Mother of Jesus" will be presented. These scenes will be accompanied with a number of beautiful mother songs and readings.

9:45 a. m.—Sunday school.

Classes for all ages. You are cordially invited to come and join one of these classes. Clyde E. Parker, Sunday school superintendent.

Those not attending elsewhere are cordially invited to join one of our classes.

The B. Y. P. U. meets at 6:30 p. m. A splendid program is being arranged under the leadership of Miss Grace Craven.

Members and friends of the church are urged to remember this.

that this is the beginning of our Loyalty Campaign and, to make a special effort to be present at every service. The public is extended a cordial invitation to enjoy these services with us.

Local Society Event

War Mothers Sell Carnations Made By War Veterans

The Richmond War Mothers had a highly successful day yesterday. Hundreds of the paper carnations, made by the disabled veterans of the late war, were sold by the ladies of the organization to neighbors and the wondering populace on the streets of Richmond. The price was ten cents and the group worked long and earnestly to collect the many dollars they did. The money goes where it is most needed and the disabled boys will benefit by the work of yesterday.

Stegs Presbyterian Holds Successful Food Sale Here

"I'm sorry, madame, but there is nothing left." Something similar to this was said by the ladies of the Stegs Presbyterian church yesterday. The food sale that was held at the Twelfth street market and the pies, cakes, salads and other tempting concoctions of the cuisine went all too rapidly. The ladies held a short business meeting in the afternoon.

Charming Program Given By Ladies Of St. Edmunds

Ladies of the St. Edmunds auxiliary held a charming program at the social meeting on Friday afternoon. Local talent was in evidence. Miss Belva Chapin sang two beautiful songs, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Fenix. Mrs. C. C. Holbrook read some of her own clever verses. Eleanor Galbraith pleased with two recitations and Ruth Fenix sang a vocal solo, accompanied by her mother. A piano duet by Hughes Powell and Vivian Vaughn was greatly enjoyed. "How I Earned My Dollar", a highly amusing farce was presented, under the direction of Mrs. E. H. Harlow, and was enthusiastically received by the large crowd.

Home made candy was sold by a committee under the direction of Mrs. McCann and Mrs. Tarr. Those who showed remarkable talent were: Mesdames M. Bonham, Olive Fenix, C. C. Cosby, W. W. Scarlett, N. Stevens, B. Oberholtzer, H. I. Hill, R. Tcherasov, T. J. Mickey, E. H. Harlow, T. Lavendar, and Miss Carlonne Rogerson and Mary Mann.

Miss Helen Vaslie Celebrates Eleventh Birthday At Party

The eleventh birthday anniversary of Miss Helen Vaslie was celebrated at a party held last evening at the home of Mrs. Phil Jones, 203 Sixteenth street. The evening was pleasantly spent in games and music, and refreshments were served.

B. and P. Women To Hold Election Of Officers May 10

The annual election of officers of the Business and Professional Women's club will be held the evening of May 10, at the chamber of commerce rooms on Tenth street. Mrs. Norma Goettel will preside. All members are especially urged to attend this meeting as final plans will be discussed for the convention to be held in Oakland next July.

Ancient Relic Found

Albert K. Kempton, explorer (left), has brought back to America vessels, ornaments and vestments of ancient Jewish religious life found by him in remote China. They will be shown at exposition in Brooklyn.

where the towns in the flood zone where the quakes were felt. A check of towns in the flooded areas of Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana revealed that no tremors had been felt.

All reports fix the time of the shocks between 2:30 and 2:35 o'clock this morning. Some places felt only one tremor, others had two severe shocks.

Brick chimneys tumbled down in North Jonesboro, Ark., but in most places the quake had no more effect than to rattle or break dishes and awaken residents from sleep.

Towns reporting having felt the shocks this morning included Poplar Bluff, Caruthersville and Sikeston, Mo.; Memphis, Jackson, Ripley, Covington, Dyersburg, Union City and Paris, Tenn.; Jonesboro and Blountville, Ark., and Hickman and Mayfield, Ky., and Carbondale, Ills.

Small seasonal tornadoes destroyed a few houses and barns in sections of Mississippi, but were not reported felt in the inundated area. Tenant houses, trees and small outbuildings fell before high winds at Clayton, Miss., and vicinity. In Tunica county, Mississippi, several dwellings and two churches were blown over.

NO ONE INJURED
Livestock was killed in the sections touched by the tornadoes, but reports indicated no one was injured.

Torrential rainfall accompanying an electrical storm and high winds temporarily flooded the streets of Forrest City, Ark., where about 10,000 flood refugees were quartered, but authorities there said there was no damage except for a few tents blown away.

NEW ORLEANS, May 7. — Increasing burdens were placed today on the levees north of New Orleans with the rising Mississippi rising steadily below Angola, La., because of flood waters from Northeastern Louisiana returning through the old river.

Major W. H. Hoeft, chief engineer of the fourth district, who is accompanying Secretary Hoover and his party on their southward journey, said the west bank defenses over that stretch were being well maintained, but that at points between Baton Rouge and the Crescent City the east bank levees were not so satisfactory.

Large crews are capping and strengthening the embankment over many miles and particularly at a sharp turn in the river some fifteen miles above New Orleans where the unprecedented flood crest will exert great pressure as it races to the gulf.

At Angola early today the river level was 55.5 feet, a rise of one-tenth of a foot in twenty-four hours. The stage at Baton Rouge, said a weather bureau bulletin, was 46, a rise of two-tenths of a foot over night.

Water rushing through the two thousand foot break at Caernarvon, south of New Orleans, had lowered the river here one-tenth of a foot to 20.3 the lowest gauged recorded since the effects of the flood first began to be felt near the mouth of the river.

Increasing flood stages were reported along the Red and the Atchafalaya rivers, the rise in the former at Alexandria being two-tenths of a foot with a similar rise for the Atchafalaya at Melville.

Local Elks Will Attend Big Oak Social Night

DOWNEY—Improvements being paying several streets of town.

Wesley M. E. To Hold Special Services

Services honoring mothers will be held by the Wesley Methodist church today at the Sunday school hour, as well as at the 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. services.

The large chorus of the church will furnish special music, as will soloists. A beautiful tableau will be one of the special features of the evening service. Rev. C. G. Lindemann's theme in the morning will be "Motherhood's Gods," while in the evening he will speak on "The Misrepresented Woman."

The people of Richmond are extended a cordial invitation to attend the services.

ANAHEIM—Contract awarded at $80,500 for paving several streets of town.

Spring is calling—
buy a Buick now

Glorious spring days, marvelous spring nights, are calling you. Make them yield the greatest measure of enjoyment—drive a Buick.

Soar over the crest of a hill, flash through the countryside, Buick's Six-Cylinder, Valve-in-Head engine delivers a smooth, even flow of power—vibrationless beyond belief at every point on the speedometer. And the smart beauty of Buick's Fisher Bodies, their graceful lines and magnificent Duco colorings, are like a breath of spring.

Buy a Buick, for style and comfort, for finer performance, for sterling dependability—and for greater value.
